CULTIVATING CAREERS

CMP

CMP is a not-for-profit workforce and economic development organization dedicated to promoting economic self-sufficiency and career advancement.

What We Do

- Employability Assets Building
- Career Development
- Entrepreneurial Assistance

MAXIMIZING POTENTIALS

We are proud to share that we serve over 4,000 individuals each year through CMP's array of programs and this important work can only be accomplished with your charitable contribution.

A Community In Need

Challenge – 49% of working-age Asian New Yorkers had limited English proficiency (LEP), compared to citywide average of 25%

CMP offers vocational English, college, and career pathway programs to help LEP workers become more employable

Challenge – 1 in 4 Asian Americans live in poverty, twice the rate of White New Yorkers

CMP provides employment skills training, career counseling and mentoring, and job placement to help Asian American workers attain gainful employment

Challenge – Fifty-four percent (54%) of self-employed Asian Americans had limited English proficiency, and they had lower earnings than non-Asians

CMP supports Asian American entrepreneurs with small business training, financial literacy workshops, access to capital, one-on-one problem solving, and disaster relief assistance
